Volunteers Help Pull Auto From Pounds Hollow Embankment

SOCIAL ITEM: This is a social item about the July party of the Bible school class for 15-year-old girls at the First Baptist church. Their party was in the form of a picnic held a week ago today at Pounds Hollow lake.

The girls were taken to Pounds Hollow by Mrs. W. J. Calvert and Mrs. Robert Capel, their teacher. Swimming was enjoyed by the girls attending, who were: Misses Betty Jo Shanks, Linda Gee, Judy Josey, Alicenell Bean, Judy Franks, Diane Cass, Margaret Calbert and Janice Armistead.

Mrs. Calvert and Mrs. Capel parked their cars in the regular parking place, facing the steep embankment that goes down to the water. After the swimming the group returned to their automobiles to get out the picnic lunches and Mrs. Capel's car wasn't where it was supposed to be.

Instead, the machine was about half way down the very steep embankment, just staying there, with a lot of water right there in front of it.

The people present didn't know what to do except to go for help; so Mrs. Capel got in Mrs. Calvert's car and they started out. They got all the way to the store at Gibsonia before they could round up anybody.

But there they had good luck, and shortly after the two women had returned to the scene six men showed up in one car, two in another and one was driving a tractor.

Eight men descended the embankment to keep the car from starting up and rolling into the lake while a chain was fixed to it. Then the tractor pulled and the car came up to where it should have been all the time.

It was found that a part of the car had caught onto a small sapling and that was all that kept it from a bath on Friday instead of Saturday.

There wasn't a scratch on the car. All the picnic food was intact, too, except for a little bean salad that spilled out.

"Those men wouldn't take a penny for their work, which shows that there are a lot of good people still in this world," Mrs. Capel commented later.

"The Lord was sure with you today, lady," one of the men commented to Mrs. Capel as they were about to leave.

"You know why?" one of the pupils spoke up. "She's our Sunday school teacher and she's a good one, too."

Mrs. Capel said that where she parked her car, some other vehicle had to give it a push before it could have reached a spot where it would have started going down the embankment.

Minister to Conduct Christmas Services Sunday

VICKSBURG, Mich. (AP)—The Rev. George Stannard, pastor of the First Methodist church, said today he would conduct Christmas services in the church Sunday in an attempt to allow his congregation to really enjoy Christmas.

Stannard said modern Christmas services had all the real joy of Christmas taken out of them by the heading rush to stores, the last minute scramble for gifts for overlooked relatives, the tedious writing of Christmas cards, and the worry over Christmas bills.

"Let's celebrate Christmas when we can enjoy it," Stannard said. "For all we know Christ may have been born in July, anyway, as no one really knows the time of year he was born."

The church choir will sing the traditional Christmas anthems and carols. Stannard will deliver a Christmas sermon and flowers will replace the traditional holly. But there will be no exchange of gifts. "This will be a Christian Christmas," he said.

Bulganin is Conciliatory at Press Meeting

Big 3 Ministers Agree to Strategy For Geneva Talks

By United Press

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin today told an unprecedented press conference in Moscow that Russia will go to the "summit" Big Four conference at Geneva pledged to seek an end to the Cold War.

He told foreign and Soviet correspondents, assembled inside the Kremlin, that the East-West struggle "cannot be solved by war."

And he said the West was wrong in talking of "the menace allegedly emanating from the Soviet Union."

"We have never had and do not now have the intention of attacking anybody," Bulganin said.

The Soviet premier's conciliatory statements on the eve of his departure for Geneva added to the aura of pre-conference optimism that has been generated in world capitals.

In Paris, the foreign ministers on the Western Big Three emerged from a two-hour strategy conference and announced that the Western powers are "in complete agreement" on their moves at Geneva.

They found common ground on the three big issues of the Geneva sessions:

1. German reunification.
2. Disarmament.
3. European security.

Avoid Far East
They also agreed that the Far Eastern issues "would not be injected into the summit meeting by the West. If such troublesome items as Formosa, Indochina, and the admission of Red China to the United Nations are dragged in, it will be on Russia's responsibility," the foreign ministers agreed.

French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay confirmed that the West's emphasis will be on Germany.

"When one speaks of security and disarmament," he said, "one cannot fail to be in agreement that we first must solve the German question."

So great was the attitude of harmony that diplomats in Moscow speculated that the Geneva conference will be followed by an exchange of state visits by President Eisenhower and Bulganin.

Study Starts Immediately
Western diplomats assembling in Paris and Geneva immediately began studying Bulganin's press statement that Russia will seek with the West "a common language" to end the Cold War.

President Eisenhower flies to Geneva from Washington tonight. Washington sources said that during the conference the President might touch on an American disarmament plan now being drawn up for presentation to the major powers, including Russia, in late summer or early fall.

In Paris, West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano added his voice to warnings that the West must not "expect miracles" from the summit conference.

He foresaw no "immediate relaxation of tension" but added: "I believe a following conference at a lower level could do a lot of good towards preparing a second big power conference, perhaps in October."

Although the Germans will not participate directly in the Geneva conference, large delegations from both East and West Germany moved into the Swiss capital today.

Since German reunification will be one of the major problems before the conference, representatives of both German states will be consulted.

There were reports in Moscow that the Geneva conference might lead to an exchange of state visits by President Eisenhower and Premier Bulganin.

It would be unprecedented for an American President to visit Moscow and for a Soviet Premier to visit Washington. A few months ago, neither would have been considered remotely possible.

Today First Day for Absentee Voting in State's Attorney Election

Today was the first day to vote absentee for the special election to name a state's attorney of Saline county Aug. 9.

The successful candidate will finish out the term of Glen O. Jones, who vacated the office when he became state senator in January. K. C. Ronalds was named state's attorney to serve until the special election could be held.

Stratton Signs Final Bills for State, City Revenue Programs

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The entire Stratton-Daley revenue program was law today with the governor's signing of bills for a city utility tax, a 2 1/2 per cent "use" tax and a broadening of the state sales tax. The final bills in the program, which also included a permissive city sales tax and an increase in the state sales tax, were signed into law Thursday.

The "use" tax, to become effective Aug. 1, will add a 2 1/2 per cent tax on goods bought out-of-state but used in Illinois. The tax also covers goods purchased in Illinois, but provides a credit for the

2 1/2 per cent state sales tax to avoid double taxation.

The utility tax bill permits cities to levy a tax up to 5 per cent on the gross receipts of public utilities. A companion bill permits the utilities to pass the tax on to their customers with rate increases.

The sales tax broadening bill brings goods placed in use in their final form under contract, such as stoves and refrigerators installed in new homes, into the provisions of the tax.

State Revenue Director Richard J. Lyons has estimated the use tax will bring the state some 10 million dollars a year.

The governor previously signed bills increasing the state sales tax one-half cent for two years and permitting cities to levy a one-half cent city sales tax.

All the tax measures were part of a program agreed on by Stratton and Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The state sales tax increase is expected to gain the state about 100 million dollars in two years, to be used chiefly for schools and welfare.

Stratton also signed a bill to clarify the sales tax owed on trade-ins by auto dealers. The bill provides that a dealer need not pay the state sales tax on the amount of credit he allows on a trade-in. He must, however, determine the real value of such trade-ins and include it in his tax return.

The governor vetoed a bill to establish a revolving fund with

Fire Burns Home At Carrier Mills

The home of Mrs. John Groce on North Main street in Carrier Mills was completely destroyed by fire this morning. It is reported the fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered about 4:30 a. m.

The house had been closed for some time and the lights disconnected as Mrs. Groce was away from home and the origin of the fire had not been determined today.

The house and furnishings were a total loss, it was stated today.

Open Pond, Strip Mine Water Areas Source of Stonefort Mosquitoes

Jim Williams, state expert on mosquitoes, told residents of the Stonefort area Wednesday night that an investigation he had made into salt-water mosquitoes in that region indicated the majority of them were coming from an open pond area and abandoned strip mines that had filled with water.

He said he believed the mosquitoes were coming from there because they went to salt or acid water for breeding and there was acid content in these places.

Williams added that a permanent cure would be to drain out these places, as spraying is ineffective because it catches only one batch of eggs.

A Stonefort committee was named to study the matter.

Charge Mother And Daughter With Murder

Accused in Death Of Girl Near Cave-in-Rock

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill. (AP)—A Hardin County woman and her daughter were charged with murdering a young woman who died under unusual circumstances July 1.

The charge against Mrs. Julie Davis and 17-year-old Betty Davis resulted from the death of Betty Joiner, 19, Hartford, Conn.

Miss Joiner, who formerly lived in Cave-in-Rock, Ill., was run over by a car near Cave-in-Rock. A coroner's jury ruled she died of a skull fracture but it did not fix the cause of the injury.

Bruce Joiner, the father of the dead woman, filed the complaint against the Davises Wednesday in Elizabethtown. Mrs. Davis and her daughter waived preliminary hearing and were released on bonds of $20,000 each pending grand jury action.

On the night Miss Joiner died she was riding in a car with Glenn McDowell of Cave-in-Rock, whom she dated before moving to Connecticut. McDowell had been dating Betty Davis recently and she and her mother drove alongside McDowell's car as he drove with Miss Joiner.

McDowell said he drove off the highway and Betty Davis came to his car and pulled Miss Joiner out of it. The Davis girl said at the inquest she may have hit Miss Joiner once during the scuffle.

Authorities said Miss Joiner apparently ran onto the highway and collapsed there and was struck by the car driven by Bernie Herrman of Cave-in-Rock. Herrman told police lights from another car prevented him from seeing the body lying in the road until it was too late for him to avoid hitting it.

Mr. Carmel Widow Catches 'Degree-itis' While Sending Five Children to College

CHARLESTON, Ill. (AP)—A Mount Carmel, Ill., widow who caught "degree-itis" while sending five of her six children to Eastern Illinois State College is going to be in the graduating class at the school herself this summer.

Mrs. Ethel Spod Greathouse, who has done all her college work by extension or during summers, will be graduated with a degree in education Aug. 4.

Mrs. Greathouse was widowed in 1937 and began teaching on an emergency certificate in 1943 to help support her family.

"You get degree-itis," she said in explaining her decision to work for a college degree. "The nice thing about Eastern was that I got a program made out which would enable me to finish the four-year teaching degree without even missing a year of teaching."

Although she started teaching on an emergency certificate, Mrs. Greathouse thinks it "is proper to require the four-year degree for any kind of public school teaching."

"In fact, I think all young people, even girls who plan to marry, should get a degree if they can. College is a good preparation for rearing a family," Mrs. Greathouse said.

Her two daughters took her ad-

Eisenhower Expresses Hope Big Four Talks Will Lead To Solution of Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower declared the hope today that next week's Big Four conference will "open new vistas" leading toward solution of major East-West problems.

Mr. Eisenhower voiced this hope only a matter of hours before his scheduled departure tonight for the Geneva meeting with the leaders of Russia, Britain, and France.

"We are in a period of great flux in international affairs," he said. "There are signs that the world may be entering a new phase in international relationships."

The President cited the Big Four meeting as an example of this "new phase." He said he hopes he and his fellow statesmen at Geneva will "be able to identify the outstanding divisive issues and develop methods to try to solve them."

Letter Gives Views

Mr. Eisenhower expressed these views and hopes in a letter transmitting to Congress a bulk report on U. S. participation in the United Nations during 1954.

In Moscow, meanwhile, Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin pledged Russia to seek at Geneva "a common language" with the West to end the Cold War. As for war, Russia "never had and does not now have the intention of attacking anybody," Bulganin said at a news conference. The State Department in Washington had no immediate comment on Bulganin's remarks.

Mr. Eisenhower told Congress that "I for one will enter these (Geneva) discussions with a full awareness of the opportunities offered by the United Nations to contribute to the peace of the world."

"If these meetings reach useful areas of agreement in the handling of international problems," the President said, "then they will open new vistas looking toward further agreement. This can only mean that the United Nations will have new and wider opportunities to build upon the foundations thus laid."

Other Points Listed

In the letter, Mr. Eisenhower also:

1. Expressed hope that through patient diplomatic effort Communist China will be convinced that it should end "the wrongful detention" of U. N. Korean war prisoners. He said "the prolonged anguish of these men and their nearest kin arouses the sympathies of the civilized world."

Miss Jane Lee To Tour Europe

Miss Jane Lee, daughter of Atty. George B. Lee and Mrs. Lee of this city, left last night for a tour of Europe.

She will join friends in Chicago and they will sail from Montreal, Canada, visiting in 11 European countries. The group will return to New York City, landing Aug. 27.

Miss Lee teaches at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Bridgeport Man Is Electrocuted

BRIDGEPORT, Ill. (AP)—Riley C. Duckworth, 36, Bridgeport man, was electrocuted Thursday while repairing an automatic washing machine at his home.

2. Said Russia has given "the appearance" of accepting "at least some principles" of a sound disarmament plan. The United States is carefully weighing the Soviet position. Nuclear weapons make disarmament "literally a problem of survival for all mankind."

3. Reported "dramatic" progress in the U. S. effort to turn the atom to peaceful purposes. There are grounds "for real hope for participation by the Soviet Union" in his world atoms-for-peace plan. But "we will not slow the wheels of progress if some do not choose to join us."

The President spent much of today preparing for his flight to Geneva.

In the comfortably bunked White House Super-Constellation, the Columbine III, the Chief Executive and his wife were scheduled to take off for Geneva, Switzerland, and the Big Four meeting which opens Monday.

After a re-fueling stop at the U. S. Air Force Base at Keflavik, Iceland, Saturday, the President was scheduled to land in Switzerland at 3 p. m. EDT. Following welcome ceremonies at the airfield, he will motor to a luxurious villa outside the city for preparatory conferences with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles who already is in Europe.

Before his departure, the President was to address the nation at 8:15 p. m. EDT on radio and television on his hopes for the Geneva meeting.

Modified Reserve Measure Goes To Conferees

By United Press

The administration today hoped a Senate-House conference committee would strengthen a sharply modified military reserve bill which cleared the Senate Thursday night by an 89-1 vote.

The bill went to a conference committee so that differences in House and Senate versions could be ironed out.

Assistant Defense Secretary Carter L. Burgess particularly objected to a Senate amendment limiting the compulsory feature of the administration's original reserve plan. The Senate bill provides that compulsory reserve service shall be required only of men entering the service 30 days after enactment of the reserve plan. Men already in the service would be exempt, but if they volunteer for the combat reserves of the Army or Marine Corps would receive a bonus.

The administration, on this point, is counting on House members. The House version of the bill incorporated the administration's recommendation that reserve duty be required since the Korean war.

Burgess also opposed extending age limits under which youths could volunteer for a special program of six months active training followed by 7 1/2 years in the reserves. The administration wanted this restricted to youths under the draft age of 18 1/2 so that it would not interfere with recruiting older youths for regular service.

But the House bill would open the program to those who have finished high school or age 19 while the Senate would let those between the ages of 17 and 20 participate.

Two Found Not Guilty in 'Coon On Log' Contest

A county court jury yesterday found Charlie Duncan and Alice Mae Richardson innocent in the staging of a "coon on the log" event Sunday, June 12, on Mrs. Richardson's property at Saline Four pond.

State's Attorney K. C. Ronalds, during the trial before Judge Trafford Dennis, contended that the mere holding of the event was a violation of the law, basing his argument on Chapter 38, Paragraph 146 of the Illinois Revised Statutes which provides for the fining of "whoever shall keep or use, or in any way connected with or interested in the management of, or shall receive money for the admission of any person to any place kept or used for the purpose of fighting or baiting any bull, bear, dog, cock or other creature."

Lloyd Melton, counsel for the defense, contended that nothing got hurt, that the event was held for the enjoyment of the spectators and test the ability of the dogs,

Illinois Road Official Tells Of Suggestion

To Submit Plans to Federal Association Group for Approval

The Illinois state division of highways will recommend that the proposed federal highway from Shawneetown to East St. Louis will go through Eldorado, Raleigh and Galatia in Saline county, it was stated today by an official of the department.

The information was given by H. H. Harrison, Springfield, traffic engineer for the state highway division, to Don E. Chamberlain, Springfield newsmen who does special state capital assignments for The Daily Register.

Harrison said that this is the route which will be recommended by the Illinois highway officials to the American Association of State Highway Officials Route Numbering committee.

Three Routes Considered

From Shawneetown westward to Illinois Route 142 to Eldorado, from Eldorado to Raleigh on an unnumbered highway, then on Route 34 to Galatia and Benton. From Benton over Route 14 to Route 51 south of Du Quoin and from Du Quoin fall to Pyatts, turning north to Pinckneyville and all the way from there to an undetermined terminus in East St. Louis over Route 13.

Harrison said that three routes were considered. One other was from Eldorado to Mt. Vernon and west to East St. Louis, the other from Shawneetown to Harrisburg and on into East St. Louis on Route 13 all the way.

Statement by Harrison

Harrison's statement to Chamberlain said:

"The state highway division is in the process of preparing a report on a proposed interstate route which will go from Shawneetown to East St. Louis through Illinois."

"The report will be in the form of a resolution or application to the American Association of State Highway Officials Route Numbering committee, now in session in San Francisco and which Ralph Bartlesmeyer, chief highway engineer in Illinois, is attending."

"We are hopeful that the committee will consider our resolution during the interim between the present San Francisco meeting and one to be held at New Orleans this fall. We also hope that the resolution will be circulated by mail to committee members between now and the fall meeting so that a decision may be made at New Orleans."

"The latest word from Kentucky is that that state has not yet decided on the exact location of the route across Kentucky except that it will enter Illinois over the new Ohio river bridge at Shawneetown, which should be completed by December 1."

His statement then listed the route which will be recommended in the resolution and the two other routes considered.

Automotive Avalanche

Editorial By Bruce Biossat

In the world of the highway,
when you start by-passing the bypasses you're in trouble. And that,
apparently, is about to happen.

The Wall Street Journal, in a
roundup look at the nation's traffic tangles, found that situation just
one of many addictions as cities
across the land strive desperately
to cope with their problems.

The avalanche of vehicles is snowing them under. In half a year there will be 60 million cars
and trucks on the road, virtually double the number a decade ago.

By 1965, say the experts, the total will pass 90 million vehicles.
Beyond that, we'll begin to talk in terms of 100 million.

The highways we have, even most of the ones we're planning, won't be able to take the load. They're already saturated with traffic in many, many instances.

Two-lane roads have a safe, comfortable load limit of around 5000
cars a day. But many bear far greater burdens, sometimes six times that many.

Even fabulous new expressways
are smothered in traffic. The Hollywood freeway in Los Angeles was built to accommodate 100,000 cars
a day. It is handling 160,000 daily.
New Jersey Turnpike authorities
will tell you that super-highway
carries traffic now that the engineers thought it wouldn't see for three decades.

At rush hours or on crowded
weekends, the slightest mishap
sometimes can tie up traffic for miles. Los Angeles is seriously searching for helicopters big enough to hoist wrecked cars off
its freeways to uncork accident
bottlenecks.

It would be foolish to say that
the country is not at least awake
to the magnitude of the traffic
problem. President Eisenhower's proposal for a 101 billion dollar
highway program, by far the costliest yet suggested, shows recognition of the difficulties ahead.

But all the evidence at hand indicates that neither the federal government nor the states and cities are planning with sufficient vision and scope to surmount the
problem in the foreseeable future.
The truth is painful: We are swamped by the swelling flood of traffic. And the tide of cars is rising so swiftly and so high that we are likely to stay swamped unless we get some plans that fit the size of the problem.

The answer clearly belongs in
the realm of staggering billions.
Anything less won't buy us much space on the highways. And space means lives.

Housewife Uses Her Sweeper on Lawn

CARMI, Ill. (U-P) A motorist passing the home of Mrs. Harry L. Ashworth couldn't resist stopping and asking the Carmi housewife what
she was doing when he saw her
running an electric vacuum sweeper over her front lawn.

"Why the dandelions are about
to take over the neighborhood,"
she said, "so I just hold the sweeper on top of a dandelion that has gone to seed and—whoosh—away
goes the seed and an additional
crop is curtailed."

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Democrats Work With Ike To Unblock Public Housing Jam; Republicans Desert Ike On Housing; Democratic Leader
McCormack Tips Off White House.

WASHINGTON. — The backstage jockeying between the White House and Capitol Hill over public housing is one of the most interesting developments of this congressional session.

As usual it finds the Democrats
trying to pull the President's congressional chestnuts out of the fire.
It even found Congressman John
McCormack, of Massachusetts,
Democratic leader of the House,
phoning the office of assistant
president Sherman Adams asking him to switch at least one Republican vote inside the Rules committee.

What happened was that the House Rules committee split 6 to 6
for and against Ike's proposal that the government finance 25,000
units of public housing. This was much lower than the 135,000 figure
passed by the Senate, but even so, Eisenhower's Republicans in the Rules committee balked.

Since the Rules committee has
life-and-death power to bottle up legislation, this tie vote meant that not only public housing but about $2,000,000,000 for FHA building
construction loans was stopped cold in committee. Naturally this aroused a howl from the real-estate
lobby which very much wants
money for FHA but doesn't want
even one of the public housing units recommended by Ike.

GOP-ER GIBES GOP-ER
Among the GOP congressmen
who opposed their chief in the White House were Leo Allen, of Illinois, former Rules chairman;
and Henry Latham of New York,
who has been considered as a potential candidate for mayor of New York or even governor. Since public housing is a hot issue in New York City, Latham's vote was a big surprise. So also was Leo Allen's.

"Of course Leo will vote for public housing," glibbed his Republican colleague, Clarence Brown of Ohio.
"Leo's become a New Dealer. He goes down to the White House and comes back to vote the way they want him to."

Brown's kidding was partly aimed at keeping Allen from switching
his vote. Brown used to be Bob Taft's campaign manager, but,
even so, voted against Taft's public housing bill.

"I told Taft," he said, "By G—, when you go socialistic, I'll vote against you, even if I am
pushing you for President."

It was just before this deadlock
occurred that alert John McCormack,
who knows in advance how
crucial votes are going to stack up,
phoned the White House and tried to warn Sherman Adams what was happening.

However, he could not get Adams on the phone. Later McCormack called back, but still
could not reach Adams. McCormack
was trying to save the President's own housing bill, but even so Adams never called him. However, one of Adams' assistants
took the call and did get busy.

Ever since then, the White House
has been moving heaven and earth to change at least one Republican vote to unblock the housing bill inside the House Rules committee.

RUSSELL LONG BOTTLES

Sen. Russell Long, of Louisiana,
whose daddy, the late Kingfish,
did more to build bridges and
highways and to buck the big utilities in Louisiana than any one man in years, continues to play
ball with the public utilities.

Efforts by Sen. Lyndon Johnson
before he became sick plus the persuasion of many other senators
have failed to budge the young senator from Louisiana regarding Hells Canyon, the one remaining big dam site still unharnessed in the U. S. A. Long wants to hand
it over to the Idaho Power Company.

The other day Sen. Wayne Morse
of Oregon, indefatigable battler for Hells Canyon as a public power
project, cornered Russell Long and asked him why he refused to let Hells Canyon even get out of the Senate Interior committee for a debate by all the senators.

"When two senators from one
state are split on any matter," replied Senator Long lamely, "then I shall vote automatically against
public-works development."

"Just how silly can you be,"
Russell?" replied Morse.
Long also stated that he had made a commitment to Senator

Dworshak, Republican of Idaho.
"The senators from Idaho represent not the people of Idaho but
the Idaho Power Company," continued Morse. "You are taking a stand against progress. At least,
let me get the Hells Canyon project to the floor of the Senate. Let every senator vote on it. Don't bottle it up in committee."
"No," replied Russell, "my commitment still stands."

He referred to a commitment
Long says he made not only to Dworshak, but to Senator Cordon,
Oregon Republican, when Cordon
was in the Senate. Cordon has now been rebuffed by the people
of Oregon who elected Senator Neuberger partly because of Neuberger's strong stand for Hells
Canyon in contrast to Cordon.
Note: Russell has voted with the big utility companies at various
other times, including the battle
over Dixon-Yates.

McDaniels Enjoy Caribbean Island Hopping Cruise with Philco Dealers

Mr. and Mrs. H. Belmont McDaniel have just returned from an all-day island trip complete with a pig roast on a tropical beach. From San Juan, the party was the guest of Artophone Corporation, Philco Distributors in this area. The trip was a contest award
for outstanding sale of Philco products during the spring of 1955.

The Philco Dealer party left St.
Louis by Delta C & S Airlines last Tuesday and flew to Chicago, then on to Miami. From there they flew to Havana, Cuba, where they stayed at the Commodore hotel,
went night clubbing, swam, shop-
ped and saw the historic Morro Castle.

From Havana they hopped to Port-au-Prince, Haiti, where they stayed in the luxurious El Rancho hotel. After two days in Haiti, the party boarded another plane for San Juan, Puerto Rico, and the new modern Caribe Hilton hotel.
Here the outstanding attraction

leading Democrats, including Governor Gary of Oklahoma and Dem-

ers in Washington, Doenges is still considered a "Trojan Horse Democrat." They don't trust him. This does not apply to his old friend,
Sen. Bob Kerr, who used him as a stalking horse at the Democratic convention at Chicago in 1952.

Religious Picture, 'John Wesley,' at Methodist Education Building July 26

The new religious motion picture, "John Wesley," will be presented in the Harrisburg First Methodist church education building on Tuesday, July 26, at 7:30 p.
m. Rev. W. L. Cummins has announced that the public is invited to attend this picture.

Sponsored by the local Methodist Men the feature-length film is in the new Eastman color, and was produced by the Radio and Film Commission of the Methodist church in cooperation with J. Arthur Rank, famous British director.

The movie brings to the screen
for the first time the dynamic and colorful 18th century evangelist
and educator, who was responsible for the Methodist movement which has produced the largest Protestant denomination in the world today.

John Wesley's miraculous rescue from a burning house at the age of five, at the beginning of the film, forecasts the dramatic and eventful life which unfolds in this story of a man of slight stature but
of compelling influence upon his contemporaries and upon history.

As a minister of the Church of England, John Wesley, portrayed
by the British actor, Leonard Sachs, believed that the cold, ritualistic type of religion of his day
was not reaching the common
man. During his lifetime he rode 250,000 miles on horseback, talking to farmers, coal miners, and the laboring classes.

Wesley's evangelistic crusade
has been reputed by historians as one of the causes preventing the French Revolution from spreading
to England.

Sometimes a Good Deed Costs a Lot of Money

ST. PAUL, U-P — A Boy Scout

to pay $5 for his good deed.

Kaepfle had a cup of coffee in a downtown restaurant and then went to his office without paying for it. Figuring the waitress might get docked, Kaepfle climbed into
his car, fought the traffic down town, parked his car across the street from the coffee shop, ran inside, handed over the dime and dashed out again.

Before he could get to his car, a traffic officer had made out a $3
rush hour parking tag.

Charles Hetherington of New York is in Harrisburg visiting at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clark.
Mr. Hetherington was soloist at the wedding of his nephew Lt.
Myron Clark and Miss Nancee Jo
Land which took place June 26 in Enfield.

Miss Nancee Jo Land, Lt. Myron Eugene Clark Wed at Enfield on June 26

LT. MYRON E. CLARK AND HIS BRIDE are shown leaving the Presbyterian church in Enfield following their wedding there June 26.

One of the season's loveliest
weddings was that of Miss Nancee
Jo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Wesley Land of Enfield,
and Lt. Myron Eugene Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clark of Harrisburg, which took place Sunday
evening, June 26, at the Presbyterian church in Enfield.

Formal baskets of white gladioli
and blue delphiniums, tied with blue ribbon, and potted palms, interspersed with standard cande-
labra holding lighted blue tapers,
provided the altar setting for the formal ceremony. Lighted blue candles and greenery decorated
several of the sanctuary windows.
Blue satin bows marked the family
pews and a white runner was laid down the bridal aisle.

The Rev. Kermit Prince, minister of the church, officiated at the impressive double ring service
at six-thirty o'clock in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

Ushers were Bob McCurdy, Enfield; Bill Hays, Harrisburg; Ned Inglish and Tom Skaggs of St.
Louis, Mo.

The bride chose her sister, Miss Myra Gail Land, to be her maid of honor, and Mrs. Rex Brown, Evansville, bridesmaid. Carroll Clark
served as best man for his brother.

Bill Puckett of Carmi was organist playing a number of number selections and accompanying the soloist, Charles Hetherington,
uncle of the bridegroom, from New York City as he sang "One Alone," "If With All Your Hearts,"
from the Elijah, and "The Lord's Prayer."

As the bride entered the church
on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, she was wearing
a beautiful gown of white imported hand-clipped lace and nylon tulle over taffeta, designed and made by her mother. The torso lace bodice was fashioned with short sleeves and a spaced neckline which was V-shaped in the back and was closed with tiny
self covered buttons. The voluminous skirt, appliqued with medallions made from the same kind of lace as the bodice, extended into a sweep train. Her veil of illusion fell from a small French style hat
of lace outlined with seed pearls
and pearlized rhinestones. Her slippers were pearlized kid and
she wore elbow length gloves trimmed with pearl buttons. She carried for her bridal bouquet a cascade arrangement of Fuji mums
and blue delphiniums and carried out the traditions of "something
old, something new, something
borrowed and something blue" in her wedding costume.

The gowns worn by Miss Land
and Mrs. Brown were also made by the bride's mother and were fashioned of white lace and nylon
tulle over Dresden blue taffeta.
The torso bodices featured spaced
necklines with a high square collars which formed a fichu over the shoulders. The very full skirts were ballerina length. They wore white elbow length gloves and held
cascade bouquets of blue delphin-iums and lilies of the valley. Their headdresses were sprays of blue
satin leaves.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs.
Land chose an afternoon frock of pink lace which she complemented
with pink accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a blue and white lace dress with blue accessories. Her shoulder
corsage was made of blue garden-
ias.

A reception was held after the wedding at the home of the bride's parents. The dining table which was covered with a lovely lace
cloth over blue was centered with a large double ring wedding cake
decorated with wedding bells and white satin ribbon, flanked by blue rattles in triple candelabra. The cake and punch were served with
blue and white mints and assorted nuts.

Eden Briefed by Churchill for Big Four Talks

LONDON (AP)—Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who has negotiated with Russia's top-level
leaders in the past, Thursday night
briefed and advised Prime Minister Anthony Eden, who will head
Britain's delegation to next week's Summit East West conference at Geneva.

It was disclosed today that Eden
asked for advice from Britain's Grand Old Man of international politics before departing for the Geneva conference sessions.

Eden listened attentively to Churchill's counsel and made extensive notes, sources close to the prime minister said. But the sources declined to give any details of their talks.

It was Churchill who, as prime minister, first issued the call for a meeting of East and West "at the summit" in May, 1953.

Carl Smith, Grand Ole Opry Star, At Fair July 31

Carl Smith, handsome, young featured star on Nashville's famous Grand Ole Opry, and top Columbia Recording Artist, will appear on stage with the Duke of Paducah Show at the Saline County fairgrounds both afternoon and evening Sunday, July 31.

Carl Smith has enjoyed a meteoric rise to fame and stardom in the folk music world since he joined the Grand Ole Opry in 1950. His unaffected singing style, outstanding good looks, engaging personality and wise choice of tunes won for Carl the coveted annual Cash Box Magazine Popularity Award for 1952.

His numerous Columbia Recordings that have appeared consistently on Coast to Coast Western and Country Popularity Polls include, "Mr. Moon," "Betcha' My Heart I Love You," "Old Mother Nature," "I Overlooked An Orchid," "This Side of Heaven," and many others, plus his current best seller, "Hey, Joe," which is the country's top tune in the folk music field today. Also at the head of the popularity list is his "Do I Like It," "Trademark" and others. Coming into prominence in public favor are his just-released Columbia discs, "Satisfaction Guaranteed," and "Who'll Buy My Heartaches," listed by Billboard Magazine country critics as potential hits.

Smith encountered no great obstacles in his bid for a spot in the folk music sun, and, perhaps because of this, he maintains the fresh, wholesome outlook on life that one hears in his songs and music. His wide, quick smile is as much a part of him as his guitar and love for country tunes, and this, together with his fine singing voice has placed him among the greats in this field.

Harold D. Woolard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Len Woolard, RFD 2, Galtia, was recently promoted to specialist third class at Stuttgart, Germany, where he is a member of the Seventh Army. Specialist Woolard, a stenographer, entered the Army in June 1953 and completed basic training at Fort Riley, Kan. He has been overseas since last January.

Returns from Studebaker Meeting

Connie VanderPluym, of Exide Service, Studebaker dealer here has returned from a major meeting with officials of the company in St. Louis, where he learned that sales of Studebaker passenger cars and trucks in this region are running ahead of the national pace.

The meeting was one of the first to be held throughout the United States in which the company's sales heads and dealer organizations are launching Studebaker's strongest sales promotion program since before the war.

William A. Keller, Studebaker general sales manager, told Mr. VanderPluym and other dealers that Studebaker produced more cars in the first five months of this year than in the first nine months of 1954, and that constantly rising sales have reached a volume of more than 50 per cent higher than the comparable period in 1954.

The United States Supreme Court has had 13 chief justices.

Stratton Signs Final Revenue Bills

which the state would build school buildings for districts which have reached their bond debt limit but still need new schools. The school districts would have paid "rent" for use of the state-constructed buildings, and the "rent" would have been returned to the building fund. The state would have retained title to the schools until the school district paid off the construction cost.

Other bills signed will: Establish a psychiatric training and research authority in the Public Welfare Department.

Set up an office of superintendent of safety inspection and education for industry with an $8,000 salary.

Repeal the law requiring state employees to retire at 70.

Teacher Training Aid Permit a school district maintaining a normal school for teacher training to base its claims for state aid on the per capita cost of each pupil instead of a flat $600 per pupil.

Permit licensing of package beer-only stores where beer may be sold for off-premises consumption only.

Bills vetoed would have: Increased the salaries of down-state probate judges $2,400 with the increase to be paid by the state. Raised the pay of the Cook county state's attorney from $17,000 to $22,000.

Permitted school use of any state building if authorized by the superintendent of public instruction.

Granted pay raises to state employees. A companion bill was killed on the last day of the legislative session by procedural error, and the pay raise bill would have been unconstitutional without it.

Fruit salads love it: one-fourth cup of French dressing and one cup of commercial sour cream.

Bit Actress Is Found Slain

NEW YORK — Police sifted a score of bloody clues today in their search for a killer who slashed and strangled a bit part actress in her Times Square hotel room.

The victim, 55-year-old Adlyn Woodington, was found late Thursday sprawled on an unmade bed with her head propped against a window sill.

A man's leather belt was drawn tightly around her throat and a pair of bloody scissors lay on the floor near the body.

President William Henry Harrison was the father of 10 children.

Investigator Says Old Folks' Home Used as Base for Baby Adoption Operation

CHICAGO (AP)—An investigator told a Senate subcommittee today of a Texas Old Peoples' home operator who did an estimated $360,000 business in placing babies for adoption.

Ernest A. Mitter, special counsel for the Kefauver subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, said he contacted Mrs. Ruby Heightower in Texarkana, Tex., last year by posing as a man seeking a child for adoption.

Mitter said his investigation showed that Mrs. Heightower had placed 889 babies for adoption, using her Old Peoples' home as a headquarters, and charging $600 to $800 apiece.

Mitter said she bragged of "political support" in Bowie County, Tex., and warned that "anyone who opposed her would have trouble."

"She said a local official on the law enforcement level knew the truth and facts on her operation," Mitter said.

He quoted the woman as saying "my children have been placed out in 48 states and I have received mothers from 48 states."

Mitter said Mrs. Heightower told him one method she used was to have the unwed pregnant girl register in the hospital in the name of the prospective parents. Then the birth certificate would be made out in the same name.

Mitter showed a film to the subcommittee which he said showed a Chicago attorney, Nathan Gombert, handling an adoption case here last May 25.

He said a couple came here from New England to receive a child shortly after it was born to a Chicago woman at a hospital here.

The film showed a nurse handing the child to the lawyer in front of the hospital, and he in turn placed it in the hands of its new parents.

Mitter said all this was accomplished in a few hours.

Mitter quoted the couple as saying they paid Gombert $1,200. The lawyer's expenses were $300, he said.

Family Reunion For Eisenhowers Aboard Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—It will be a family reunion of sorts when the Presidential plane Columbine takes off tonight for Geneva with the President and Mrs. Eisenhower and their son, John, aboard.

The 15 1/2 hours of flying to the Big Four conference plus any off-duty time they spend together in Switzerland will give the busy Eisenhowers and their Army son the longest visit together for some time.

That may have been the reason the First Lady decided, almost at the last minute, to accompany the President. It was not definitely known that she would be going until late Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Eisenhower has turned thumbs down on the "up-again-down-again" flights that her husband has taken on various speaking trips around the country. She is reported to feel they are "too hectic."

But the big silver Columbine, with its pressurized cabin—which she prefers because of a slight heart murmur—offers a more restful trip. And the villa awaiting the President and his family in Geneva will provide her a little "rest and quiet" instead of the busy schedules of some other Presidential trips.

Shriners End Convention; Guy New Potentate

CHICAGO (AP)—Some 90,000 Shriners wound up their 81st annual convention today.

A whopping six-hour parade finale down Michigan Avenue Thursday drew more than one million persons—about a quarter of this city's population.

Capt. Owen Duffy of the Park District Police said the parade crowd was topped only by the 4 1/2 million persons who saw Gen. Douglas MacArthur on a 23-mile parade route to Soldier Field on April 21, 1951.

Thursday night's parade also climaxed at Soldier Field, this time before Walter C. Guy, 64, Little Rock, Ark., who Thursday was elected Imperial Potentate of the Shriners.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Probably the only barbershop in the world using ladders will be in operation at Springfield, Ill., today. Springfield barber James Drew will use a fire department aerial ladder to get high enough to trim the locks of tower sitters Henry Willhite and Willard Hilburn.

Willhite and Hilburn have promised to stay aloft until 1,000 volunteers enlist in the Civil Defense Ground Observer Corps. Some $50 have signed, and the 1,000th is expected to sign Saturday.

The fifth victim was Vivian Estelle Atchison, Dallas, Tex.

Police said the Colbert car skidded head-on into the Atchison car.

U. S. Preparing New Plan for Disarmament

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is preparing a secret new disarmament plan for early consideration by the world's major powers, including Russia.

The disarmament program may be hinted at by President Eisenhower at next week's Big Four conference at Geneva. Its final release, however, is expected to be held back for detailed disarmament talks in late summer or early fall. Foreign ministers or other experts would attend these talks.

Mr. Eisenhower was reported to have high hopes the Big Four powers at Geneva will agree to a fresh start on a step-by-step path toward eventual global disarmament.

But the President, with British and French support, was reported ready to oppose any Russian move to call for a gigantic "world disarmament conference." This Soviet approach to disarmament has been sounded for years. It was repeated only last month by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov at the San Francisco United Nations conference. Diplomats are sure it will be repeated again at Geneva.

The President and other Western leaders were said to want a more modest, and what they believe would be a more effective, approach to disarmament, including control of atomic-hydrogen weapons.

One possibility under Allied discussion would be for the Big Four at Geneva to call for the U. N. disarmament subcommittee to make a new start on disarmament. This would begin after the Geneva conference ends. It would provide a good forum for the new U. S. proposal, informants said.

Inspection is expected to be the heart of the new U. S. plan under formulation by Harold E. Stassen, special disarmament adviser to the President. But previous American thinking on inspection is sure to be modified.

New York Reporter Fired for Refusing to Answer Senate Group

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Daily News said today it has discharged David A. Gordon, a reporter who refused Wednesday to answer questions of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee about past Communist activity.

Gordon denied at the subcommittee hearing in Washington that he is now a Communist or that he had been one for the past 12 years. He cited the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer other questions about Communist activity.

The reporter was notified of his dismissal in a letter from Richard W. Clark, executive editor of the News.

Plane Landed Safely With 87 Men Aboard

Pilot Credits Military Discipline For Preventing Panic

HAMILTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The pilot of a crippled giant Globemaster that almost ditched in the Pacific ocean with 87 men aboard credited military discipline today with preventing a panic during the six harrowing hours the plane was in trouble.

Capt. Theodore S. Roosevelt, 30, of Elyria, Ohio, a distant cousin of two presidents, said he "never could have made it" if the seven other crewmen and 79 soldiers aboard had not followed his orders.

"They acted magnificently," he said of the paratroopers of the 187th Regimental Combat Team being rotated back to the United States after service in Japan.

The C124 Globemaster was en route from Japan to Travis Air Force Base in California. The flight was part of "Operation Gyroscope," a large airborne rotation of soldiers between the Far East and the United States. The eventual destination of the 187th is Fort Bragg, N. C.

The giant plane developed trouble about 850 miles from California, "about 30 miles beyond the point of no return."
"The No. 3 engine went out with internal troubles about 6:30 p. m. EDT," Roosevelt said. "Shortly after, the No. 4 engine had to be feathered because of internal trouble and loss of oil."
When the first engine went out,

Veto Bill to Raise Court Reporter Pay

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton today announced his veto of a bill which would raise the salaries of circuit, city and superior court reporters.

Roosevelt messaged Travis and all air fields in the San Francisco bay area were alerted.

"After the second engine went out, there was a possibility we might lose another engine," Roosevelt said. "However, the other remaining engines held up okay, but they were failing rapidly."

With two engines out, gas consumption rose alarmingly, Roosevelt said. After the plane landed at Hamilton Air Force Base, he told one Air Force officer, "we were running on fumes as far as gas was concerned." Actually, he had 15 minutes of gas left.

Prepare to Ditch Plane
While the plane limped towards California at a speed of 140 knots, the passengers and crew prepared to ditch the plane, if necessary.

"The paratroopers jettisoned all their baggage and loose gear except their rifles," Roosevelt continued. "Then men were then strapped in their safety belts and their Mae West life jackets."

For a while, it was touch and go whether the plane could maintain altitude. As it was, it flew between 2,000 and 3,000 feet.

A commercial DC4 met the plane at 9:05 p. m. and stayed with it until rescue amphibians from California buses made contact. A host of ships steamed below in case the plane should have to land in the water.

"I'm glad I didn't have to land off shore because of the fog," Roosevelt said.

Roosevelt decided to land at Hamilton Field because it was the closest. Hamilton is about 30 miles north of San Francisco.

The plane landed at 12:08 a. m. EDT Friday.

Reveal Ridgway Criticism of U. S. Strength

Letter to Defense Department Questions Soundness of Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway seriously criticized U. S. military forces as "inadequate in strength and improperly proportioned" a few days before he retired on June 30 as Army chief of staff.

Ridgway made the criticism and questioned the soundness of U. S. military policies in a letter to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson. The Defense Department made it public today.

The four-star general, a combat soldier in Korea and World War II told Wilson that he would be neglecting his duty if he did not reaffirm his convictions in regard to military defense of the United States before leaving as Army chief.

He said the United States has established itself as the leader of Western resistance to communism. As a result of American commitments, he said, U. S. forces may be involved in action in many different types of climate and terrain.

To meet these commitments, he said, the U. S. must be prepared to meet force with force whether in large or small conflicts and whether or not atomic weapons are used.

In his view, the general said, the U. S. military forces "are inadequate in strength and improperly proportioned to meet . . . them . . . specific or implied."

Ridgway said he had been pictured in "some quarters as opposing emphasis on air power." But

Mexican Airliner Crashes; 17 Dead

OAXACA CITY, Mexico (AP)—A Mexican airliner crashed in flames near a mountain village west of here Thursday, killing 17 persons, reports received here today said.

One of the passengers was Navy Commander Angel Atreola Martinez of the Acapulco navy base who was elected a member of the Chamber of Deputies 12 days ago.

There were 14 passengers and three crewmen aboard the Lausa airliner.

22 New Polio Cases in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The State Health Department today reported 22 new Illinois polio cases this week, bringing the total for the year to 137.

The total compares with 117 cases reported at this time last year, with 34 cases reported during the same week of 1954.

he said, "the exact contrary is true."

He said he is opposed to "over-emphasis" on air power just as he is opposed to over-emphasis of any military force "where dependence on that force exceeds its capabilities and impairs the nation's overall military potential."

At Quantico, Va., where Wilson is attending a defense conference, the secretary commented on Ridgway's letter. "I don't think it's very important."

Campanella's Return Won't Cure Dodgers' Sore Arms

NEW YORK (NEA) — The Dodgers resume firing with sore armed and tired pitchers.

Roy Campanella's return might straighten this out, it was suggested to Walter Alston.

"Campanella's catching can't cure aching arms," said the manager of the Dodgers.

The Superbas have suffered 31 injuries sufficiently damaging to keep athletes out of combat, but the harassed Alston is chiefly concerned with those that practically confined the Brooklyn pitching to the sick bay.

Karl Spooner turned up with a lame flipper in training, hasn't any part of the control and stuff the upstate New York left-hander possessed as the record-wrecking strike-outer of last fall.

Don Newcombe missed a turn in April, complaining that his pitching apparatus felt more like an abraded tooth. Sandy Koufax, the bonus baby, was out a month with a sprained ankle and a hair-line fracture of the other. Tom LaRocca, the stocky southpaw now with Montreal, had his knee badly banged up covering the plate.

Things didn't really get rough with the Flatbush flingers until early June, however, which is when Alston, the man most concerned, began to wonder just how many pitchers on one club could be out of repair simultaneously. Jim Hughes, the robust relief worker, developed a sore spot in his shoulder. Billy Loes reported twinges.

LOSING THE STARTING Loes was a severe handicap and the Dodgers were hurting; when Johnny Podres remained in the dugout with pain in his shoulder. Ten days of rest failed to help the Witherbee Wonder. Alston suspected that he must be at the end of the line along this line when Russ Meyer suffered the worst injury of all, a broken sternum, which is the bone that connects with the collarbone. Monk went on the disabled list for 30 days, won't be of service again until September.

But the worst was yet to come for Alston, and before he knew it, Carl Erskine, the number two man behind only Newcombe, was confined to the dugout with a sore back and elbow. Erskine, for so long so dependable, failed to finish 12 of 13 starts.

Ed Roebuck appeared in 34 of the first 84 games, had good reason for having nothing on the ball when the Giants pummeled him in the last game of the more recent three-game set at the Polo Grounds. Hughes worked ... and rather well ... sore shoulder and all, and had been called on 23 occasions. Glenn Labine relieved four times in nine days and pitched a complete game in between.

CAMPANELLA COULDN'T bend his left knee because of a spur. Rube Walker bruised his shoulder blocking Willie Mays at the plate. The 35-year-old Dixie Howell caught with a painful charley horse. A pitched ball bruised two of Gil Hodges' fingers. Don Zimmer was sidelined for several days by an infected jaw. Pee Wee Reese has a recurrent groin injury.

Jackie Robinson twisted his neck, bruised his left hand and had the right spiked and suffers from an arthritis condition in his left knee. Carl Furillo was out with a charley horse in his right calf. Duke Snider pulled a ligament in his left knee. Sandy Amoros strained his back. Frank Keller suffered a broken nose.

The result has been 44 different lineups.

When Campanella went out for good, the Brooklyn pitchers turned in only three complete games in 21.

Roy Campanella's return will help, of course, but the burly backstop will have to bring three or four pitchers with him.

Kiwanis Baseball School Saturday

In the 11 and under age group Deneen Rose won first place, Sam Gibbons won second and Mac Mudge, third.

In the 12-15 age group David Nelson won first, Jerry Jahn second and Charlie Yarrow third.

BETWEEN YOU'N' ME

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — Notes scrawled in the sand:

The culmination of a fantastic sports story is the $2,500,000 automobile racing speedway that will be ready here in 1957 and could rival Indianapolis.

Never would have happened if a lumbering giant named Bill France hadn't run out of gas (and dough) some 21 years ago en route to a Miami American Legion convention from Washington D. C.

Bill hid himself off to the nearest garage and got a job as a mechanic to refuel his six foot five inches ... pretty soon bought the gas station ... As a kid he played hooky from school to watch the car races near the Capital.

Finally decided to build his own car because he couldn't squeeze his big carcass into the conventional machines ... once turned a double cartwheel without a scratch.

Racing was dead at Daytona Beach 15 years ago ... the city had even let its $7,500 timing clock be carted off to the U. Nelson Wins French Open

PARIS (AP) — Not even the gruelling strain of four rounds of golf within two days could keep Byron Nelson, 43-year-old semi-retired former American champion, from his first major tournament victory in nine years.

The tall, silent Nelson of Roanoke, Tex., who ruled United States pro golf in the 1940's, walloped par for the La Boule Course by a mere 17 strokes in winning the French Open golf championship with a 72-hole score of 271 Thursday.

Nelson thus scored by two strokes over Britain's Harry Weetman with another Briton, Harry Bradshaw, third at 275 and little Dai Rees of Wales fourth at 276. It was Nelson's first major victory since he captured the Victory National at Chicago in 1946.

Dodgers Lose Third Game in Row as Cardinals Win, 6-1; Braves Defeat Phillies, 7-1

By United Press

Bob Buhl and Bobby Thomson were key figures in Milwaukee's big let-down last year but they're making it all up to the spurting Braves now with the type of performances that bode no good for Brooklyn.

Between them, Buhl and Thomson helped fashion a 7-1 victory over the Phillies Thursday night that marked the Braves' seventh triumph in the last eight games and pulled them within 10 1/2 games of the pace-setting Dodgers, who lost to the Cardinals, 6-1, for their third loss in a row.

Buhl, who won only two games all last season, registered his seventh victory in spectacular style against the Phils. The 27-year-old right-hander struck out 12 batters, more than any other Milwaukee pitcher has fanned this year, and gave up only five hits, including Andy Seminick's ninth-inning homer which robbed him of a shut out.

Thomson Boosts Average Thomson, who was sidelined most of last season with a broken ankle and hit only .222 when he did return to action, put the Braves in front to stay when he homered over the left field roof off starter Herman Wehmeier in the second inning. Thomson also contributed a single in Milwaukee's three-run fourth and now has boosted his batting average from .217 to .277 in the past six weeks.

Along with Thomson's marked improvement at the plate and the recent strong pitching by Buhl, the Braves have started to move back toward the top after having trailed Brooklyn by 15 games less than a month ago.

Rookie right-hander Larry Jackson of the Cards stopped the Dodgers on four hits in handing them their fifth loss in eight games. Stan Musial, hero of Tuesday's All-Star game, hit his 20th home run off loser Johnny Podres in the second inning and Wally Moon hit his 12th homer with one on off reliever Jim Hughes in the seventh.

Giants Edge Cubs The Giants beat Big Bob Rush of the Cubs, 3-2, after he had defeated them three times previously this season. Playing heads-up ball, the Giants stole four bases, two of which figured in their final two runs. Don Mueller's second inning homer gave New York its first run. Rookie Jim King's two-run homer in the sixth produced Chicago's only runs off Ruben Gomez.

Cincinnati collected 21 hits, including five by second baseman Johnny Temple, to crush Pittsburgh, 19-1. Little Jackie Collum limited the Pirates to six hits and was backed by an attack that included two homers by Wally Pate and one by Smokey Burgess. Frank Thomas homered for Pittsburgh.

Cleveland cut New York's American league lead to four games by beating the Yankees, 5-4, with a two-run rally in the eighth inning and a fine combined relief job by Don Mossi and Ray Narleski, who have not allowed a run in their last 24 2/3 innings of duel pitching. Narleski relieved Mossi in the seventh and gained his fifth victory against no defeats.

Indians Come From Behind The Indians were forced to come from behind in notching their victory in 13 games with the Yankees at the league leaders' hands taken a 4-2 lead off Cleveland starter Bob Lemon. Al Rosen's homer off Jim Konstanty tied the score at 4-4 in the eighth and the Tribe added the winning run on singles by Hal Naragon, Narleski and Al Smith. Larry Doby also homered.

The Red Sox divided a two-night twin-bill with the Tigers, taking the second game, 7-3, after Detroit won the opener, 6-0, on Frank Lary's six-hit pitching. Successive home runs by Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen in the seventh inning of the nightcap helped rookie George Susce Jr. to his fourth victory.

Chicago climbed to within 4 1/2 games of first place by whipping Washington twice, 13-4 and 5-2. A three-run rally in the eighth inning, featured by Sherm Lollar's homer, gave Dick Donovan his 11th triumph in the nightcap while a seven-run rally in the fourth inning of the opener turned that contest into a rout.

Baltimore won its first double-header of the year, beating Kansas City twice, 10-7 and 6-4. Two homers by Gus Triandos and one by Hal Smith helped the Orioles win the opener while Dave Philley's two-run homer high-lighted a five-run rally in the eighth inning of the finale.

State Police Is Seeking 120 Recruits

SPRINGFIELD (CP)—Illinois is looking for 120 state police recruits.

The starting pay is expected to be $325 a month, and veterans must be given preference.

The 69th General Assembly passed and Gov. William G. Stratton signed a bill to add 100 men to the present 500-man state police force. In addition, there are 20 vacancies on the force to be filled.

Another bill, passed but not yet acted on by the governor, would raise the starting pay from $322 to $325 a month and provide for five annual pay raises for patrolmen. Under the bill, patrolmen would be paid $335 their second year, $345 the third year, $355 the fourth year and $360 the fifth year and thereafter until they are promoted.

Sergeants would be paid $390 a month, lieutenants $420 and captains $460.

The deadline for applications, to be mailed to the state police merit board in Springfield, has been extended to July 31.

Candidates must be between 21 and 35 years of age and not less than five feet nine inches tall nor more than six feet four inches tall. They must be citizens of the United States and residents of Illinois for at least two years. They must have a high school diploma or its equivalent and they cannot have a criminal record.

The work week is 48 hours. Applicants will be given an opportunity to take written examinations for appointment.

From these exams, oral interviews and physical tests, the board will select candidates to attend a state police academy.

The training period lasts four weeks, during which candidates receive free room and board and $145 a month. Assignments generally are made according to a candidate's ranking at the academy, and efforts are usually made to assign state police as near as possible to their homes.

Brownies will do less crumbling if you let them cool before cutting into squares.

The Statue of Liberty was unveiled on Oct. 28, 1887.

TWO FEATURES AT GRAND—Ursula Thiess and Glenn Ford await developments in outlaw raid in a scene from "Americano," in Eastman color, to show at the Grand Friday and Saturday. Also on the double feature program is Paul Henreid in "Pirates of Tripoli."

Alone in the apartment, Lucy got up and wandered about disconsolately.

She should be doing something. She couldn't just go to bed and sleep as Shayne suggested. She'd never sleep. Not tonight. Not with all this on her mind. For the simple, inescapable fact was that everything that had happened went back inexorably to her allowing Jack Bristow to stay without informing either Shayne or the police at once.

Then it came to her suddenly. Arlene Bristow! Jack's sister in New Orleans. Of course. She would call Arlene. The number was in her old address book.

Yes. There it was on the third page in the book. Bristow, Arlene.

She looked at the clock as she hurried to the telephone. Almost half past 12. Rather late to make a call, but then she remembered gladly that New Orleans was in a different time zone. Was it one or two hours difference? She could never remember.

There was a very brief delay at that time of night, and then she distinctly heard a telephone ringing at the other end. It rang three times before a feminine voice answered, and relief at getting her so quickly flooded through Lucy.

She said, "Arlene? This is Lucy Hamilton."

"I'm sorry. Miss Bristow isn't here. Who did you say was calling?"

"An old friend. I'm calling from Miami and it's dreadfully important. Do you know when Arlene will be in?"

"Well, I... no, as a matter of fact. For heaven's sake," went on the voice excitedly, "whatever is this all about? A policeman was here not more than half an hour ago asking all the silliest questions about Arlene, and he wouldn't tell me why."

"I see." Of course, Lucy thought. Will Gentry would have contacted the New Orleans police and instituted inquiries at once. It was silly of her not to have realized that. After a brief pause, she asked, "Who is this speaking?"

"I'm Esther Grant. I share the apartment with Arlene. Are you the Lucy Hamilton in Miami I've heard Arlene mention?"

"Yes. What...?"

"They asked me about you, too. The policeman did. Have you seen Arlene?"

"Not since I left New Orleans."

"Oh, I thought... She's in Miami, you know."

"What? Who is?"

"Arlene. Now I am beginning to wonder what this is all about. From the first I had a funny feeling about it. It just wasn't like Arlene at all to go off like that."

"Like what?" demanded Lucy sharply.

"The way she did two days ago. Without even a word to me. And not even packing a bag from what I could tell from looking at her clothes. But she said everything was all right over the telephone, and for me not to worry and to call her office the next morning and say it was an emergency and she'd be away a few days. And that's when she asked me to look in her book and get your address and phone number for her, and so I thought of course she'd call you right away."

"What did she say?"

"Well, she sounded kind of funny. I don't know. Worried, I guess, or scared. But she said I wasn't to worry and everything was all right, but she had to make a trip to Miami unexpectedly and would I look in her book for Lucy Hamilton's Miami address. She was in an awful hurry and didn't want to talk any, so I did and then she hung up."

Lucy told her good-night and cradled the phone. She sat very still, resting her throbbing forehead in one palm and trying to think what this news meant. So Arlene was in Miami!

Her trip had to do with Jack, of course. That seemed obvious. Some sort of trouble he was in involving $70,000 that had caused Arlene's emergency trip.

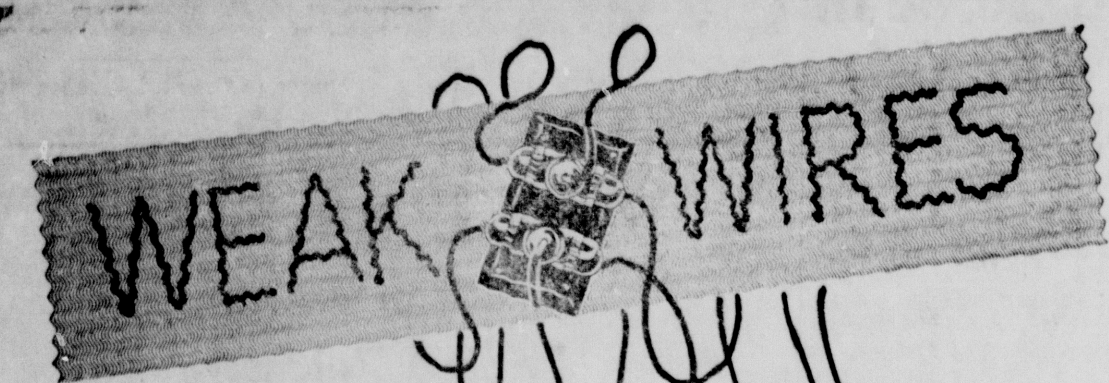

Some sort of trouble that had culminated in Jack's death tonight.

A horrible thought struck Lucy as she sat there. Could either of the two girls be, in fact, Arlene Bristow? She thought back frantically to everything she had heard said about the first victim.

Either Will Gentry or Timothy Rourke had mentioned her extreme youth. About 16, hadn't they said. Arlene must be almost 30. And Gladys Smith was said to have been staying at the rooming house for some time. Obviously, she couldn't be Arlene.

But the other? The one who had accosted Shayne at the scene and whom he had taken to a motel for the night?

Michael had mentioned something queer about her reaction when she saw Jack. He was ready
